Leased Line - Why having one is great for a business

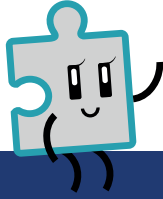

A leased line or Managed Internet Access offers you the ability to order, utilise and benefit from the next generation of business connectivity. It gives you a dedicated, symmetric, and fully managed fibre connection with speeds that can run up to 10Gbps. What this means is that you will be provided with direct connectivity to the internet on your own dedicated fibre line, providing a reliable and high-speed connection.

Why You Need A Managed Internet

Speeds

Unlike a standard shared broadband line, a leased line connection is exclusively yours to use, letting you enjoy a guaranteed bandwidth with higher symmetric speeds - even during peak times. This means you will get connections with equal upload and download speed up to 10gbps, perfect for the modern business.

Business Continuity

With the need for your business to transfer data, process orders and communicate with the outside world becoming more and more prevalent and growing rapidly, internet is now a business-critical feature. With our MIA connections we can greatly reduce the impact of poor internet on your operational effectiveness.

Security

A secure option for businesses, leased lines are private - meaning there is no public traffic on your line, making your businesses network less vulnerable to attacks, keeping your data secure. This is ideal for any business who handles and transfers sensitive data or are concerned about their data security and GDPR risks.

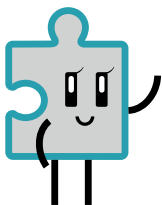

Why You Need A Managed Internet

Reliability and Resilience

All our leased line connections come managed with 24/7/365 support and a guaranteed fix time ranging from an industry leading 4-6 hours backed up with a highly competitive SLA. We make sure that all our connections keep downtime to a minimum. With MIA Resilient we have improved the reliability of our connections by including a failover or redundancies to give you a 100% uptime, ideal for when your connection is imperative to your business.

How Does Our Managed Internet Work?

Our fully dedicated symmetric connection works by providing an end-to-end fibre connection from the internet through to an NTE stored on your premises. The NTE is then connected to the suppliers point of presence (P.O.P). Each P.O.P then connects to other P.O.Ps in the form of a mesh which forms the ISP network, this then gives you a dedicated access route to the internet with unmatched speeds.

With our MIA Resilient option, a router is provided and the data flows into the router before connecting into the ISP network. The router can then set rules for data and which route will connect your business to the internet. With a failover, the data will run on one main connection, if that connection goes down then the data will be sent through a different path, this could be using different P.O.P's by the same ISP or different P.O.P's on a different ISP network. This gives a full range of options to build a resilient, reliable, and flexible connection ideal when reliability is of the upmost importance.
